Donn,

This testimony on the San Jacinto Waste Pits is very positive. I didn't realize you had done a World Cafe effort at this site. Maybe you should consider giving a presentation at the Superfund Monday meeting in conjunction with the EPA Community Involvement Conference to share what the region did at this site.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
February 15, 2011

COUNTY ATTORNEY VINCE RYAN TO DISCUSS SAN JACINTO RIVER SUPERFUND SITE BEFORE HOUSE SUBCOMMITTEE ON ENVIRONMENT

Vince Ryan, Harris County Attorney, is scheduled to testify today before the U. S. House Subcommittee on Environment and the Economy. The hearing, entitled "Environmental Regulations, the Economy, and Jobs", will begin at 1 p.m. Washington time in 2322 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Ryan will describe the collaborative relationship between Harris County, the responsible companies and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in the cleanup of the San Jacinto River Dioxin Waste Pits Superfund Site.

The San Jacinto Waste Pits is a partially submerged superfund site located north of the Interstate Highway 10 bridge over the San Jacinto River. During the late 1960s, pits next to the river were filled with dioxin-laden paper waste from a nearby paper mill. Over time, due to local subsidence, the San Jacinto River flowed into and through these pits spreading dioxin, one of the deadliest chemicals in the world.

Ryan will report that the Office of the Harris County Attorney has worked with the EPA to create a greater role for local government than is typically experienced in superfund cases. The Office assisted in creating a Memorandum of Understanding between Harris County and the EPA that has led to collaborative efforts between the County, State, and the responsible companies to develop a plan to contain the dioxin and raise community awareness about the dangers of dioxin contamination.

"Providing healthy communities in which our residents can work and strive towards a better quality of life with cleaner air and water quality remain a high priority for all of us," Ryan said.

A copy of Mr. Ryan's testimony is attached.
